THE CONFERENCE BULLETIN
of the
National Conference on Social Welfare
22 West Gay St., Columbus 15, Ohio
345 E. 46th St., New York 17, N. Y.

The National Conference on Social Welfare is a voluntary association of individual and organization members who have joined the Conference to promote and share in discussion of the problems and methods identified with the field of social work and immediately related fields. The Conference is a forum for such discussion. It does not take an official position on controversial issues and adopts no resolutions except occasional resolutions of courtesy.

President: Thelma Shaw, Fairmont, West Virginia

Treasurer: Arch Mandel, Boston, Mass.

Executive Secretary: Joe R. Hoffer, Columbus, Ohio

Editor of the Bulletin: Eula Wyatt, Columbus, Ohio

The Communication Gap

There may be a missile gap and there may not be — depending on what the politicians and military experts include in their frame of reference. But thoughtful people in social welfare everywhere appear to agree that there is a communication gap. As an organization directly concerned with communication, both within the social welfare field and between social welfare and various "publics", the National Conference has a large stake in efforts to deal with this difficulty.

In view of the constantly increasing amount of information which needs to be communicated and the rapid growth of communication techniques, this seems to be an appropriate moment to try to analyze the nature of the problem we face.

Communication within the social welfare field is carried on by such methods as conferences and meetings, which include both formal papers and group discussion, informal contacts, and technical publications. The principal benefits resulting from good communication may be summarized as follows:

1. Exchange of experience and information;
2. Stimulation of creative thinking, resulting from the interchange of ideas;
3. Continuing education for professional practice;
4. Keeping technical and specialized knowledge and skills up to date.

In commenting on the vast amount of existing knowledge in our field which is not disseminated as widely as it should be, Dan Q. R. Mulock Houwer, Secretary General of the International Union for Child Welfare, has written, "I have often been astonished to see the waste of energy, time and money due simply to lack of knowledge". While research workers and others are concerned with adding to our fund of knowledge, those of us in the conference and publications business must take primary responsibility for seeing that the knowledge that does exist is more widely communicated within our field. In addition, everyone would agree, I am sure, that we need to do more "interpretation", which of course, depends on communication. But most discussion of the latter problem, whether it is interpretation to obtain financial support for social welfare programs, or for recruitment purposes, or to other members of an interdisciplinary team, seems to come to the same conclusion, i.e. as long as we have trouble in talking with clarity and precision to one another within the field, we cannot expect to communicate effectively with other individuals and groups.

Our problems around terminology, to my mind, constitute the major stumbling block to good communication. Until we reach some kind of a consensus about the meaning and use of the basic terms in our field, I believe we are doomed to continued confusion and frustration. I am referring particularly to the following terms: social welfare, social work, social service, social services, social policy and social action.

Dr. J. R. de Jongh, Director of the School of Social Work in Amsterdam and past President of the International Association of Schools of Social Work, stressed this point in a major paper on "The Function of Social Work", which he delivered at the recent International Conference of Social Work in Rome and which will be published in the Conference Proceedings. Taking the program of the Conference itself he pointed out that the term "social work" had been used in at least four different ways — as a field of action, the community of agencies doing social work, the social workers themselves, and a body of knowledge and skills. He called on his audience to face this situation and said, "In each language it will be possible to find or to make adequate words, if we really want them."

This general problem also received attention in at least three papers at the 1960 Annual Forum in Atlantic City.¹ From all these presentations I believe two conclusions can be drawn: (1) that our difficulties with terminology (particularly in relation to the terms I have listed above) to a large extent stem from a lack of clarity in our own thinking; and (2) that at some stage the field will need to reach agreement about the meaning of certain terms and how they are to be employed.

Department of Mental Hygiene, Box O
1320 K Street, Sacramento 14, California

THE PROFESSIONAL SOCIAL WORKER IN CALIFORNIA STATE SERVICE

The Department of Mental Hygiene has moved from yesterday's custodial hospital approach to one which is treatment-, community- and patient-centered.

The Social Work Program here is distinguished in several ways. The Department was among the first to require complete professional training of all its social workers. This standard is supported by the availability of fully trained, experienced supervision for orientation, guidance and consultation. Social workers can gain a variety of experience in the mental health field through opportunity to work in different types of facilities without sacrifice of tenure or salary.

In hospitals for the mentally ill and for the mentally retarded, community-centered mental hygiene clinics, community social service offices (Bureau of Social Work), day treatment centers, and in neuropsychiatric research and training institutes, social workers participate in direct treatment activities, collaborative work with other mental health specialties, community organization work and related community services, inservice training, research and administration.

The Department is growing; new facilities are being established, new programs developed, and staffs increased. Professional social workers—both recent graduates who have had two years graduate study in approved schools, and those experienced in psychiatric social work—are invited to contact the Department's representatives at the National Conference for an interview, or write for further details.

MINNESOTA SPONSORING COMMITTEE

Charles Silversen, President, Family and Children's Service Society, Minneapolis, is serving as Chairman of the 78 member Minnesota Sponsoring Committee. Co-Secretaries of the Committee are: John C. Kidneigh, Dean, School of Social Work, University of Minnesota and Omar Schmidt, Executive Director, Community Health and Welfare Council of Hennepin County, Minneapolis.

The following subcommittee chairmen and co-chairmen have been evenly engaged in their respective assignments:

Volunteers, Mrs. Samuel Rogers, Chairman Volunteer Service Bureau and Marie Geist, Director, Volunteer Service Bureau, Minneapolis; — Hospitality Service, Anne Laurie Baker, Director, Social Service Department, University of Minnesota Hospitals and Marjorie Carpenter, Community Health and Welfare Council of Hennepin County; — Platform arrangements, Mrs. Walter Walker, Community Health and Welfare Council of Hennepin County; and Earl J. Beatt, Executive Director, Family and Children's Service, Minneapolis; — International Visitors, Mrs. Howard Conn, Member, Minneapolis Board of Public Welfare; — Decorations, Mrs. Mary Pearson, Minneapolis and Mrs. Irene Williams, Community Health and Welfare Council of Hennepin County; — NCSW Reception, Mrs. Charles Hymes, National President, National Council of Jewish Women, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Leslie Meyer, Long Lake; — NCSW Membership and Annual Forum promotion, Sam Grais, President, Minnesota Welfare Conference, Gray's Drug Stores, St. Paul and John Poor, Director, Public Assistance Division, Minnesota Dept. of Public Welfare, St. Paul; — Audio Visual Aids, Henry Daum, Director, St. Paul Society for the Blind.

The complete list of Sponsoring Committee members will be published in the final program.

COMBINED BOOK EXHIBIT

Each year the Combined Book Exhibit at the Annual Forum becomes increasingly popular with the registrants. The exhibit in Minneapolis will be manned by students from the University of Minnesota, School of Social Work, under the supervision of John Crane, Instructor in the School. Hundreds of recently published books, periodicals, and pamphlets, of interest to lay and professional workers in Social Welfare and related fields will be provided by authors and publishers for Forum registrants to peruse in the exhibit area.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Special Events for Board Members Attending 88th Annual Forum

A Board Member's register will be maintained at the Hospitality Booth (Number F-7). Special events are being arranged to provide Board Members an opportunity to become acquainted. All Board Members are asked to sign the register as soon as possible after arrival at the Annual Forum.

There will be a designated area set aside for Board Members to meet one another during the NCSW Reception in the Hotel Leamington, 10:00 P.M., Sunday, May 14.

Special for Wives of Annual Forum Registrants

Special entertainment for wives of Annual Forum attendees is being arranged by the Subcommittee of Hospitality of the Minnesota Sponsoring Committee. Information about special events will be available at the Hospitality Booth (Number F-7).

Wives of A. F. registrants are asked to register at the Hospitality Booth.

EXHIBITS

Exhibits will be located in Exhibit Hall of the Minneapolis Municipal Auditorium. The exhibit area will open at noon on Sunday, May 14 and will close at noon on Friday, May 19.

One hundred and forty-six booths will house the exhibits of a record number of agencies, schools of social work, and commercial enterprises. A special feature will be the grouping of the Schools of Social Work into one section of the exhibit area. The Council on Social Work Education has reserved four booths to make it possible for all of the Schools of Social Work, regardless of financial limitations to be represented at the 1961 Annual Forum.

The Minnesota Sponsoring Committee will be in charge of a Hospitality booth (Number F-7) to be of service to Annual Forum registrants.

The Association of State Conferences of Social Work will have a booth (Number D-23) to display the various state conference programs and publications. It provides a meeting place for persons interested in State Conference planning to get together and exchange ideas.

The Exhibit of the U. S. Committee of the International Conference of Social Work will be located in booth (Number E-16) to provide information on the ICSW and contemplated tours to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil for the XI International Conference, August 8-14, 1962.

A block of twelve booths in one area has been reserved for the exhibits of various Bureaus of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

A Special exhibit will be located inside the arena near the entrance. It will be sponsored by the American Board of Certification in Orthotics and Prosthetics. The exhibit was developed through the cooperation of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

In keeping with the successful operations of the employment service in annual forums since 1953, another job placement service will be arranged in the exhibit area of the 88th Annual Forum.

This year's service will be manned by employment specialists from the Minnesota Department of Employment Security. Cooperating with the Minnesota Department are the United States Employment Service and the National Social Welfare Assembly.

To the usual social service job placement service will be added a labor market information service for forum attendees.

If you are planning to attend the Annual Forum and wish to use the employment service, this is how to do it:

1. Advance Registration: Deadline, April 28, 1961. There are over 1800 local Employment Service offices throughout the country. They have the appropriate forms and will assist employers and applicants prepare them.
2. Employers: As soon as your vacancy occurs, register it at the nearest local office of the State Employment Service and ask that your order be forwarded to the NCSW Annual Forum in Minneapolis, Minnesota, if it has not been filled by April 28.
3. Job Applicants: Social workers interested in positions, register at the nearest local office of the State Employment Service. Take with you a brief resume of education and experience, job and location preferences, and desired salary, which will be attached to the employment service form. Ask to have your application forwarded to the Annual Forum if you have not been satisfactorily placed by April 28.
4. Activating registration at the Annual Forum: The employer or applicant must check in at the Employment Service Center immediately upon arrival, so that the earlier local registration can be activated. The Center will be located in the exhibit area in the Minneapolis Municipal Auditorium.

The Employment Service personnel will be on hand, 8:30 A.M., Monday, May 15, through the Forum week to interview each applicant and employer. Each applicant will be given an opportunity for referral to the vacancies in which he is interested and for which he deems himself qualified. Each employer will be given an opportunity to select those applications which he believes might meet the needs of his vacancy. Both applicants and employers are then responsible for effecting their own appointments with each other.

5. Registration for Service at the NCSW Annual Forum: Applicants and employers can be given more satisfactory service if they register in advance at their local employment service office. If you have any intention of attending the Conference, register locally by April 28. While registrations will be taken at the Conference you will get quicker and better service if you register in advance.

All orders or applications filed will be returned to the local employment service office after the Annual Forum, to follow through as to whether they have been filled. If not filled, the local office, through the regular employment service machinery, will continue to try to effect a satisfactory placement.

All state employment service local officers accept social work orders and applications on a year-round basis as a regular part of their service. Employment counseling, special service to veterans, industrial services and community participation are the other important functions performed by these offices.

PLANNING YOUR WARDROBE FOR MINNEAPOLIS

The Convention Bureau was requested to give us advice about clothes for the forum. This is being passed on to you in the hope that it will be of some help. First — the Weather Bureau says that the temperatures vary from 48 to 69 degrees in the middle of May. Second — the fashion notes say "Feminine visitors to Minneapolis during the month of May enjoy a wide range of fashions. A light weight wool suit is all important. Other clothes to take along, or buy at smart shops on the avenue, include a silk costume or ensemble, light weight silk tweeds and a silk linen dress or a dark cotton. Better have a spring coat, too. For the frivolous hours, a good selection would be a printed cocktail dress that does double duty as a dinner gown.

"For the men the following articles of clothing are suggested: one regular-weight spring suit, one tropical-weight summer suit; outer coat could consist of either a regular wool top coat of light weight fabric or a tailored rain coat type such as gabardine. As to the hat, it may be a couple of weeks too early for straw so we suggest a light-weight felt with a narrow brim."

Better be prepared for the possible occasional shower, too, and add your rubbers, rain hat and umbrella.

Editor's note — Our personal conclusion is that any clothes will be appropriate in Minneapolis in May, so put your favorite outfits in that bag and be on your way, come May.

WANT CONSULTATION ON PUBLIC RELATIONS?

For the first time, this year's Annual Forum is including public relations consultation on an experimental basis as an added service to registrants. The consultation will be provided by professional public relations practitioners in the social welfare field, many of them public relations directors of national agencies. They are providing their services as volunteers.

To request consultation, write the National Conference on Social Welfare, 22 West Gay Street, Columbus 15, Ohio, indicating the dates of your arrival in Minneapolis and your departure. After the Forum opens, check in at the Information Desk (Conference Headquarters Office close to the registration area — leaving your Minneapolis or Saint Paul address and phone number.

PROGRAM PLAN

The program of the 88th Annual Forum is organized in line with the plan developed by the 1949 Conference Study Committee, with certain modifications based on the recommendations of the Study Commission which were described in the Winter, 1960 issue of the Bulletin.

Meetings arranged by the NCSW Program Committee will take place on Sunday evening, all day Monday and Wednesday, and Friday morning. Meetings sponsored by the Associate Groups of the Conference will be held prior to the opening of the Annual Forum and all day Tuesday and Thursday.

As explained on page 14 of this issue, a feature of this year's Annual Forum will be a series of meetings designed to give intensive treatment to one topic considered to be of special interest to the field of social welfare. The subject selected for this experiment is "Toward the Elimination of Poverty."

The Conference meetings described in this preliminary program are of four types: General Sessions, which come at a time when no other meetings are scheduled; Sections; Common Service Committees; and the special "intensive treatment" sessions.

There are three Sections, which will hold simultaneous meetings:

- Section I—Services to Individuals and Families;
- Section II—Services to Groups and Individuals in Groups;
- Section III—Services to Agencies and Communities.

In addition, there are three Common Service Committees, which will sponsor simultaneous sessions:

- Committee on planning Meetings in Social Welfare;
- Committee on Public Relations;
- Committee on Social Research and Social Studies.

The programs of the Common Service Committees have been designed to be of interest and value to all those attending the Annual Forum—practitioners, supervisors, administrators, volunteers, teachers—no matter what their specialty.

The meetings of the Sections and Committees, the "intensive treatment" sessions and the General Sessions have been planned and organized by the NCSW Program Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Victor Shaw, President of the Conference. The other members of the Committee are:

Chairman, Section I—Eleanor Ellis, Public Assistance Advisor of the Bureau of Public Assistance, Atlanta

Chairman, Section II—Bernard M. Shiffman, Executive Secretary of the Division of Research and Informal Education, Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago

Chairman, Section III—Mrs. Frank Barry, Executive Secretary of the Health Council, Welfare Federation of Cleveland

Chairman, Committee on Planning Meetings in Social Welfare—Ralph Goff, Area Deputy of the California State Department of Social Welfare, Los Angeles

Chairman, Committee on Public Relations—Sydney Markay, Associate Director of the Health and Welfare Council, Philadelphia

Chairman, Committee on Social Research and Social Studies—Mrs. Inabel B. Lindsay, Dean of the School of Social Work, Howard University, Washington

Members-at-large (responsible for the "intensive treatment" sessions)—Mrs. Rollin Brown, The National Foundation; Nelson Jackson, Associate Director of the National Urban League; Mrs. Ida C. Merriam, Director of the Division of Program Research, Social Security Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Philip Ryan, Executive Director of the National Health Council; Sanford Solender, Executive Director of the National Jewish Welfare Board

Liaison from Associate Groups—Rev. Almon Pepper, Director of the Department of Christian Social Relations, National Council Protestant Episcopal Church

Chairman, Audio-Visual Committee—Robert Disraeli, American Jewish Committee

NCSW Public Relations Consultant—Harold Weiner, Executive Director of the National Public Relations Council of Health and Welfare Services

Charles I. Schottland, Dean of the Florence Heller Graduate School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare, Brandeis University (past President of the Conference)

Fedele F. Fauri, Dean of the School of Social Work, University of Michigan (President-nominee for 1962)

Representatives of the American Public Welfare Association, Council on Social Work Education, National Association of Social Workers, National Social Welfare Assembly, and U. S. Committee of the International Conference of Social Work
Joe R. Hoffer, Executive Secretary, and Ruth M. Williams, Assistant Executive Secretary of the National Conference on Social Welfare.

The program will be enriched by papers by three distinguished social scientists on Monday, May 15, at 11:15 A.M. Known as the Lindeman Lectures, these are financed from the regular budget of the Conference. The topics are as follows:

Section I—"Priorities for Enriching and Sustaining Family Life" by Rev. Lawrence McGinley, President of Fordham University

Section II—"Role and Significance of the Individual and the Group in Our Mass Society"

Section III—"Social Policy for the Elimination of Poverty" by Kenneth Boulding, Professor of Economics at the University of Michigan

The Associate Group meetings to be held this year are of three types: Combined meetings, joint meetings, and meetings sponsored by individual organizations. The Committee on Combined Associate Group Meetings, composed of representatives of eleven national organizations, has been under the chairmanship of Rev. Almon Pepper, Director of the Department of Christian Social Relations, National Council Protestant Episcopal Church. This Committee has been responsible for planning the general outline of the subjects to be covered in the Combined meetings on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and for selecting a program chairman for each session.

A joint Associate Group meeting is one which two or more organizations have joined together in planning because of a common interest in the subject matter. There are a number of these scheduled on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Other important aspects of the program are the meetings organized by the Audio-Visual Committee, either by itself or in cooperation with one of the other program planning groups, which will run throughout the week, and the exhibits and consultation service. The Program Committee attaches great importance to both of these, which are described in more detail elsewhere in this issue.

THE HERITAGE OF AMERICAN SOCIAL WORK

Edited by Ralph E. Pumphrey and Muriel W. Pumphrey

A collection of readings tracing the philosophic and institutional development of American social welfare. The readings range from the Elizabethan Poor Law (1601) through the U.S. Supreme Court decision (1937) upholding the constitutionality of the 1935 Social Security Act. Includes introductory material and annotations. (Published May 8) $7.50

A PRIMER OF SOCIAL CASEWORK

By Elizabeth Nicholds

An indispensable book for the nonprofessional social worker — the untrained or volunteer worker who wants to help other people. Mrs. Nicholds explains how the caseworker can do an important job efficiently, and how he can acquire more of the skills he needs. She also discusses the wide variety of community resources to which caseworkers can refer clients. $4.50

TEACHING THE MENTALLY RETARDED CHILD

By Natalie Perry

A valuable book showing how the home, the school, and the community can work together to encourage self-expression and self-care in severely mentally retarded or trainable children. Miss Perry presents a realistic picture of the kinds of school programs which can be offered to these children and discusses the qualifications needed for teachers of retarded children. $6.00

*Subject for Intensive TreatmentTOWARD THE ELIMINATION OF POVERTY

The sessions described below have been organized by the Program Committee in partial implementation of the recommendations of the NCSW Study Commission.

The Committee has picked a topic of concern to the total social welfare field, "Toward the Elimination of Poverty", and has planned an integrated series of meetings related to it. The first of these is a General Session on Monday morning, May 15, followed by several meetings in which various aspects of the subject will be considered in some depth. On Wednesday morning there will be a final session devoted to an analysis of where we stand today in relation to eliminating poverty and what the next steps appear to be.

These meetings are open to all persons who register at the Annual Forum. Since they have been planned as a unit, registrants are urged to attend the entire series. Special invitations have already been sent to the Associate Groups of the Conference, the State Conferences of Social Work and the Schools of Social Work to name representatives to these sessions in order to insure continuing participation from the broad field of social welfare.

Meetings on "Toward the Elimination of Poverty".

(for details about the content of these meetings see pages 15, 16 & 28)

Elimination of Poverty" by Kenneth E.
Boulding, Professor of Economics, University of Michigan

— 2:00-5:30 P.M. Implication Sessions
Four simultaneous meetings in different areas of interest:

1. "Potentials for the Elimination of Poverty Through Employment and Education". Speakers and panel discussion.
2. "Physical and Social Planning". Four speakers and floor discussion.
3. "Health Aspects of the Elimination of Poverty". Three speakers and four panel members.
4. "Social Security and Social Services in Eliminating Poverty". Representatives from government insurance programs and from social services with a panel of interrogators.

Wednesday—11:15 A.M. Final Meeting—"Moving Ahead Toward the Elimination of Poverty"

Panel discussion by participants from each of the implication sessions. The objective will be to analyze the measures yet needed to eliminate poverty from our society.

Preliminary Program of the 88th Annual Forum

THEME: CONCERN FOR HUMAN WELFARE — UNIFYING FORCE FOR SURVIVAL

Message from the President:

The 1960 Annual Forum outlined some of the challenges of the "soaring sixties." These included the challenges of (1) change and the ability of social welfare institutions to keep apace, (2) of international issues, calling for more recognition of the part social work can play in economic development, (3) of poverty, not yet eliminated in this country and (4) of social action, whereby we can apply our professed belief in the methods of democracy to help in the solution of our problems.

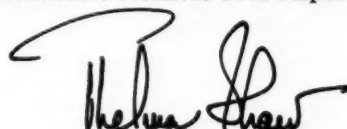

And soon, the 1961 Annual Forum in Minneapolis-St. Paul will, in some measure, give account of how these and other challenges are being met in this first year of the new decade. Outstanding political figures in national and state governments; distinguished spokesmen on the international scene; leading practitioners, educators, philosophers from various disciplines; articulate lay and professional workers in governmental and voluntary social welfare will appear on a vital Conference program that has been in process of development by an excellent Program Committee, since June of last year.

This year's theme is dedicated to the urgent necessity of individuals and groups, professions and organizations thinking and working together to protect the interests and promote the progress of mankind. How we are to fulfill these high purposes and deepen our concern for human welfare is unfinished business, as are some fundamental principles of democracy in many countries, including our own. This is directly related to the question of survival, if we believe that nations, civilizations and ideas survive, only as they are worthy to endure.

Whether we can see or feel or touch our enemies today, the battle for man's "inward survival" is as real as the threat of nuclear warfare. Yet, we cannot yield to despair or disbelief in the ideal of men and communities and nations learning the ways of living together in human decency, dignity, and peace.

It is said that perilous times produce people who respond to the occasion. The Minnesota Sponsoring Committee and all others concerned will make the 88th Annual Forum a memorable occasion. Your response will make it doubly so.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Thelma Shaw

Lindeman Lecture

SECTION II (SERVICES TO GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALS IN GROUPS)

SOCIAL POLICY FOR THE ELIMINATION OF POVERTY — Lindeman Lecture

What are the factors involved for community planning towards the elimination of poverty? In community planning we face the challenge of finding a model which will raise the levels of production and consumption, yet will assure the basic values of our culture and avoid the de-personalization of the individual. What is the model as seen in terms of social philosophy and social policy?

Presiding: Marvin Borman, Member of Board of Jewish Family and Children's Services, Minneapolis

Multiple Impact Psychotherapy — A Program for Disturbed Adolescents

Report on a research program in brief family-oriented psychotherapy being conducted by the Youth Development Project, University of Texas, Medical Branch, Galveston, Texas. This report will include a description of methodology and the results with the families seen, with projections into the future as to new developments and the applicability of such family-oriented therapy to a variety of agencies and clinics.

Speakers: Harold Goolishian, M.D., Administrative Director, Youth Development Project, Medical Branch, University of Texas, Galveston

Mrs. Agnes Ritchey, Chief Psychiatric Social Worker, Youth Development Project, Medical Branch, University of Texas, Galveston

Work with Parents and Child Together

This paper discusses the uses of working together in joint interviews with the child and parents for the intake and consultations, aspects of the diagnostic evaluation of the child and family, and as an independent treatment process. An experimental project on the treatment of character disordered adolescent youngsters and their parents will be briefly presented as well. The criteria and dynamics of working with parents and children together will be the principal focus of the paper.

Speaker: David Hallowitz, Assistant Director, The Psychiatric Clinic, Inc. Buffalo

SECTION I — Group Meeting 3KINSHIP AND CASEWORK

Report of a collaborative project between casework and social science sponsored by the Russell Sage Foundation and the Jewish Family Service, New York City, on the subject of the relations of families to kin, their influence on patterns of family adaptations, problems and problem solving in casework. Emphasis in the presentation will be on the casework implications of the project findings.

Speaker: Hope J. Leichter, Director of Research, Research Institute in Family Relations of the Jewish Family Service, New York City

Floor DiscussionSECTION I — Group Meeting 4*THE RETARDED CHILD AND HIS FAMILY

Changes in the concept of training and care of the retarded child within the family group, rather than in special schools and institutions. Discussant: Catherine Richards, Youth Consultant, Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago

SECTION II (SERVICES TO GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALS IN GROUPS) — Group Meeting 1POLICY ISSUES IN THE ORGANIZATION OF GROUP SERVICES

A critical analysis of the development and existing structure of group services. Discussion will be focused on problems in the allocation of resources, in the rational planning of group services at the community level, in the coordination of these services and their integration into the large health and welfare system.

Presiding: Helen U. Phillips, Professor, School of Social Work, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia

Speaker: Robert D. Vinter, Associate Professor of Social Work, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Floor DiscussionSECTION II — Group Meeting 2*SOCIAL GROUP TREATMENT — SOME SELECTED DYNAMICS

The rationale for using the group as one media of social work treatment will be presented. The basic elements of group process necessary for anyone working with a group in a professional capacity are described as a background for discussing the varying roles of the client and the worker in the group treatment process. A typology of social group treatment is suggested and a few criteria for client selection are offered.

The Audio-Visual Committee feels that this film will be of particular interest to family and child welfare workers and that it also would be a useful teaching tool in graduate schools of social work and undergraduate departments.

Presiding: To be announced

FOUR FAMILIES (60 minutes), Text-Film Department, McGraw-Hill Book Company, 330 West 42nd Street, New York 36, N. Y.

This is a novel venture into international understanding — focusing on the relationship of the upbringing of children in each of four countries to the distinctive national characteristics of adults in those countries. Family life is examined in India, France, Japan and Canada, with emphasis on the feeding and bathing of the baby, attitudes toward child training, dispensing rewards or punishments and religious observance.

Do Professional Social Workers Have a Responsibility for Interpreting the Basic Needs of Families?

Speaker: Mrs. Virginia R. Doscher, Public Relations Associate, American Public Welfare Association, Chicago

What Are the Public Relations Implications and Tools at Our Disposal for Doing a More Effective Job in Interpreting the Basic Needs of Families?

Speaker: To be announced

SECTION I — (SERVICES TO INDIVIDUALS AND FAMILIES) — Group Meeting 1OUTCOME OF ALCOHOLIC MARRIAGES: ENDURANCE, TERMINATION OR SOBRIETY?

This paper, based on findings from research with the wives of alcoholics, will examine some of the factors associated with different resolutions of the problems of the alcoholic marriage. The wife of the alcoholic is sometimes described as a troubled woman with a need to perpetuate her husband's drinking. On the other hand, many such husbands do achieve lasting sobriety, and in other cases the marriages are terminated. This paper will therefore compare wives in all three groups from the points of view of background factors, marital experiences, attitudes, and mental health.

Speaker: Margaret B. Bailey, Director, Family Research Project, The National Council on Alcoholism, New York City

Discussant: Mrs. Annie W. Webb, Chester County Health Center, West Chester, Pennsylvania

Floor Discussion

SECTION I — Group Meeting 2AID TO DEPENDENT CHILDREN: HOW DOES IT STRENGTHEN OR WEAKEN THE AMERICAN FAMILY?

An examination of the current studies that have been made and a frank discussion of whether or not ADC is geared to the solution of the problems in the modern setting which it was originally designed to handle.

Arthur W. Potts, Superintendent, Bureau of Needy Children, California State Department of Social Welfare, Sacramento

SECTION I — Group Meeting 3GRANDPARENTS IN AN ERA OF CHILD-CENTERED HOMES

The Care of the Aged in the Home

Are the needs of the aged and of the rest of the family complementary? Which ones? To what needs of the aged is home care particularly suited? What needs could be better met elsewhere? What is the place of the social worker in this picture? What services can the community, church or social agency provide better than the home?

Speaker: To be announced

The Institutional Answer

A description of the aims and goals of agencies and organizations providing for the needs of the aged in an institutional setting. A congregate living type of institution is contrasted with an apartment type to explore which needs each fills and for what group of aged each aims its service. What other types of institutions are required to meet special needs of our aging population, such as chronic illness or other handicapping conditions?

Speaker: Arthur Waldman, Executive Vice-President, Home for the Jewish Aged, Philadelphia

Group Work in Hospital Settings

Speaker: Louise A. Frey, Assistant Professor, Boston University, School of Social Work, Boston

SECTION II — Group Meeting 5

RETURN TO COMMUNITY LIVING

Social group work with regressed psychiatric patients for whom family care is prescribed will be presented in two papers. One paper will focus on the treatment aspects of preparing a group of female patients to move into family care as a group. The other paper will describe the administrative and coordinating work of initiating and sustaining a research-demonstration treatment program with male patients from a Veterans' Hospital after several months in family care.

Presiding: Sara E. Maloney, Adjunct Associate Professor, School of Social Work, University of Southern California, Los Angeles

Speaker: Dorthea Lane, Assistant Chief, Social Welfare Services, Veterans Administration Center, Neuropsychiatric Hospital, Los Angeles

Doreen Lindsay, Senior Psychiatric Social Worker, Metropolitan State Hospital, Norwalk

SECTION II — Group Meeting 6

THE SOCIAL WORKER IN THE GROUP

The realities of social work practice make it increasingly difficult to maintain the historic differentiation of casework, group work, and community organization as terms by which to distinguish the function of agencies, the skills of workers, or the methods through which they work. This is an attempt, by a group worker, to develop a generalized model of the helping process in social work, and to analyze the special ways in which this process functions within the group situation.

Speaker: William Schwartz, Associate Professor, School of Social Work, University of Illinois, Chicago

Discussant: Ruth E. Smalley, Dean, School of Social Work, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia

Campbell G. Murphy, United Community Services Delinquency Project, Boston

SECTION III (SERVICES TO AGENCIES AND COMMUNITIES) — Group Meeting 1

ORGANIZING, FINANCING AND PROVIDING SERVICES: ARE TRADITIONAL METHODS MEETING PRESENT AND FUTURE NEEDS?

Constantly increasing demands for services, new program concepts and the stark reality of population growth are compelling responsible professional and volunteer leadership to discuss this question. Precise answers are seldom given. However, agencies and communities will find solutions as views are exchanged and as new knowledge is sought and tested.

Presiding: M. Wallace McCutcheon, Honorary Chairman, Board of Directors, Social Planning Council of Metropolitan Toronto

Panel Members: Maurice O. Hunt, Director, National Survey Service, New York City

John M. Reinhart, President, Family Service, Milwaukee

Robert C. Wells, Executive Director, United Services of Black Hawk County, Waterloo, Iowa

SECTION III — Group Meeting 2

INTERGROUP RELATIONS — PROBLEMS, PROGRESS AND THE ROLE OF COMMUNITY WELFARE PLANNING

This session will be to develop an over-all background on the problems and progress to date in the general field of intergroup relations. It will also delineate the practical day-to-day working relationships between the increasing number of Human Relations Commissions and Community Welfare Planning Councils. The subject of intergroup relations is as important as any we are facing today and the challenge of developing successful programs to deal with discrimination and prejudice must be accepted by the field of social work in league with other interested groups.

Presiding: Shelton B. Granger, Executive Director, Urban League, Cleveland

Speakers: Frederick B. Routh, Executive Director, Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission, Detroit

George W. Culbertson, President, National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials, Pittsburgh

DIFFERENTIAL USE OF PERSONNEL

The session will be concerned with the different and distinctive roles of professionally trained casework staff, casework assistants (or case aides) and volunteers in direct casework service. There will be discussion of how the semi-professional responsibilities of casework can be differentiated from the fully professional role and be delegated to casework assistants under supervision. There will be exploration of how volunteers can be used to extend the scope of service in a casework agency. This meeting should be of interest to Board and staff interested in using these categories of personnel effectively.

THURSDAY

1:00 P.M.

Presiding: To be announcedINDIAN SUMMER (28 minutes), Folkfilms, Inc., 251 West 42nd Street, New York 36, N. Y.

This film, which was "shot" over a seven-month period in 1956 in the Catskill Mountains in New York State, uses no professional performers. It is concerned with a government project to transform the valley of Revolutionary origins, into a watershed and damsite and with the effects of this on the people of the valley, particularly one farmer. The film, made for no sponsor but as a work of personal creativity, carries a powerful message of the meaning of uprooting and change to older persons.

NEW DIMENSIONS IN CASEWORK WITH OLDER PEOPLE

(This is the first of two meetings on the same subject.)

Caseworkers in a variety of settings are and will be serving increasingly the growing number of older persons who through forces of life circumstances and negative community attitudes must adjust to drastic economic, social and psychological changes. This session is designed to improve casework services to older people. It is based on the findings of the Arden House Seminar on Casework with older People.

This session will be devoted to identifying the scope, content, and method of casework with older people; what is the same, what is adaptive, what is different from casework practice with other age groups.

THE WATERFRONT MOVES INLAND — A CHALLENGE TO LAKE AND RIVER COMMUNITIES

The St. Lawrence Seaway creates an inland sea, with change in social and economic patterns for neighboring communities. Economic benefits are underscored by cultural and social gains through exposure to ships and men from foreign places. Exposures that are positive for a community can be in part offset, if not anticipated, by increase in the incidence of communicable diseases and harbor pollution.

Foreigners and Americans, the men who depend upon shipping for their livelihood, come ashore in strange ports with a variety of needs and with diverse means and limitations in meeting them. There are many with language handicaps. The experience can be totally negative for them because of their exploitation by the most unsavory and predatory elements of a waterfront.

The situation calls for the utmost in skill and foresight in planning and coordinating existing resources of a community. Such resources include welfare, health, recreational, religious, industry and labor groups. This is a challenge to the leadership of any port community.

Three speakers will represent aspects of community organization, of organized labor, and of socio-economic factors.

DEVELOPMENTS IN DAY NURSERY CARE FOR THE PRE-SCHOOL CHILD

Report of two day nursery programs in Toronto, Canada. The West End Creche operates a treatment centre providing a short-term diagnostic observation service for children showing autistic behavior, and long-term treatment for schizophrenic children. Victoria Day Nursery offers specialized service to emotionally disturbed children. Both services are provided within a regular day care setting and emphasis is placed on preparing children when possible for entrance into a regular nursery school or public school kindergarten.

Day Care as A Therapeutic Service to Pre-School Children and Its Potential as a Preventive Service

Speaker: Viola Gilfillan, Executive Director, Victoria Day Nursery, Toronto

A Treatment Centre for Autistic and Schizophrenic Children in a Day Nursery Setting

Speaker: Margaret Lovatt, Executive Director, The West End Creche, Toronto

SECTION I — Group Meeting 6EMOTIONAL FACTORS IN REHABILITATION

Presiding: To be announced

SECOND CHANCE (28 minutes), American Heart Association, 44 East 23rd Street, New York 10, N. Y.

This film, produced by George C. Stoney Associates, is based on the case history of a 63-year-old stroke victim. It is a sensitive presentation of the potentials for rehabilitation of older patients, with particular emphasis on the importance of emotional factors and the role of the family.

THE SCOULER CASE (13 minutes), National Film Board of Canada, 680 Fifth Avenue, New York 19, N. Y.

How volunteer workers in a Toronto hospital ease the patients' road to recovery and free the regular staff for their professional tasks is the message of this film. As in the first film, the importance of emotional factors is stressed.

Discussion Leader: Joan Bonner, Rehabilitation Center, Magee Memorial Hospital for Convalescents, Philadelphia

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Presiding: Rosemary Conzemius, Lecturer in Social Work, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Social workers engaged with young people in delinquent cultures acquire confidential information of various kinds including illegal activities. This paper deals with two dilemmas: (1) Under what circumstances, if at all, shall workers share "guilty information" with law enforcement officials? (2) Social workers know from experience that the prognosis for correction in correctional institutions is seriously limited. How does this affect readiness to supply information that may result in such a commitment?

Social Work Ethics and Law Enforcement — Dilemma?

Speaker: Russell Hogrefe, Director, Chicago Youth Centers

The second half of the meeting will be utilized to discuss the three papers on Juvenile Delinquency which have been presented as well as any questions of current practice of interest to panel members or audience.

MAY 19

Current Status of Efforts at Controlling and Preventing Juvenile Delinquency

Panel Members: Frederick Trost, Southern Oregon College, Ashland

SECTION II (SERVICES TO GROUPS and INDIVIDUALS IN GROUPS)HOW A WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE CAN EFFECT THE PLANS OF A FIELD OF WORK

Within the past fifteen months two White House Conferences have been held: The Golden Anniversary of the White House Conference on Children and Youth, and the first White House Conference on the Aging. These conferences stemming from the grass roots and culminating in the White House are exciting illustrations of democracy at work. A principal purpose of these conferences was to exchange views and to establish goals toward which the people of the nation could strive in the ten years ahead.

This section meeting will provide an opportunity for discussion on how a White House Conference can affect the plans of a field of work

Presiding: Morris Hursh, Commissioner, Minnesota Department of Public Welfare, St. Paul

Speaker: Bernard Nash, Special Consultant on Aging, Minnesota Department of Public Welfare, St. Paul

SECTION III (SERVICES TO AGENCIES AND COMMUNITIES) Group Meeting 1THE CLEVELAND STUDY OF ALL SOCIAL WORK JOBS — WHY WAS IT DONE — HOW WAS IT DONE — WHAT ARE ITS VALUES?

In 1956, the Welfare Federation of Cleveland, Ohio completed a pilot job evaluation study of casework positions. The study also compared salaries paid to caseworkers with salaries paid for comparable jobs in industry. The demonstration was considered so valuable to agency administration and in improvement of salaries, that a study of all jobs in public and voluntary health and welfare member organizations of the Welfare Federation was undertaken and completed in 1960. Presiding: William D. Schmidt, Executive Director, Children's Services, Cleveland; Member of the Evaluation Committee

Speakers: C. Bushnell Olmsted, Personnel Adviser, Welfare Federation of Cleveland

John Patterson Currie, Management Consultant, New York City

Critique: Bertram M. Beck, Associate Executive Director, National Association of Social Workers, New York City

SECTION III — Group Meeting 2EMOTIONAL FACTORS IN REHABILITATION*AUDIO-VISUAL COMMITTEE

11:15 A.M. - 12:45 P.M.

CLOSING GENERAL SESSION — Obstacles to Action for Human Welfare

Analysis of the obstacles that stand in the way of the achievement of human welfare in this country. This will include both tangible factors, such as outmoded political and administrative structures, and intangible factors, including social attitudes and cultural values.

Presiding: Mrs. Victor Shaw, Fairmont, West Virginia; President of the National Conference on Social Welfare

Speaker: Charles Frankel, Professor of Philosophy, Columbia University, New York City

U. S. COMMITTEE NEWS

U. S. PARTICIPATION IN ROME CONFERENCE

The U. S. Delegation to the Rome Conference, under the chairmanship of Ralph Blanchard, new Vice-Chairman of the U. S. Committee, consisted of 425 persons. This made it the second largest delegation at Rome, the Italian group numbering over 500. France was third, with 300 participants. Jane Wrieden of The Salvation Army was secretary of the U. S. Delegation and handled the many administrative details required for effective participation in an activity like the Conference.

Americans played an active part in the program. Nathan E. Cohen, Dean of the School of Applied Social Science at Western Reserve University, and Vice-President of NCSW, gave a major Plenary Session address on "Responsibilities of Social Work and Social Workers to Clients and Society," which will be published in the Proceedings. James R. Dumpson, Commissioner of Welfare of New York City, was Chairman of the Commission on "The New Tasks of Social Work," and Werner Boehm of the School of Social Work at the University of Minnesota served as Vice-Chairman of the Commission on "The Role of Users and Potential Users of Social Services." Two U. S. delegates were assigned to each of the six Commissions, and others participated in the sixteen Study Groups.

The U. S. exhibit, which was developed by a subcommittee of the U. S. Committee in cooperation with the United States Information Agency, was an effective presentation of social welfare in this country. As agreed in advance, this has now been turned over to USIA, and it is hoped that it will be shown in other cities in Italy.

On the social side, in addition to the opera and the general reception given by the Italian National Committee at the Museum of Modern Art for all Conference delegates, there was a special reception for U. S. Delegates given by Mr. Boerner, the head of USIS in Italy, and Mr. Brown, the Cultural Attache at the U. S. Embassy in Rome.

An orientation session for all American delegates to the Conference took place on the opening day of the Conference and was felt to be helpful preparation, especially for those attending their first International Conference. Among the participants was Mr. Outerbridge Horsey, Minister at the U. S. Embassy in Rome, who provided useful background material on Italian-American relations.

A subcommittee under the chairmanship of Betsy Byram is now working on a report on the Conference for distribution in this country, to be based on the reports of the various sessions that were prepared by observer-reporters assigned to the U. S. Committee.

Ralph Blanchard and Dorothy Lally of the Social Security Administration represented the United States in the Permanent Commission (the governing body of the ICSW) and took an active part in discussing the future program and activities of the organization.

As announced in the winter issue of the Bulletin, Lester B. Granger, a past President of NCSW, was elected President of the International Conference for the term 1961-64. In addition, Donald V. Wilson, Secretary-General of the International Society for Rehabilitation of the Disabled, was elected to the ICSW Executive Committee.

Mrs. Savilla M. Simons, General Secretary of the National Travelers Aid Association, and a member of the NCSW Executive Committee, participated in the Pre-Conference Working Party in Milan, a small group composed of one representative from each ICSW Committee, which prepared a document on the Conference theme that was distributed to all delegates when they registered.

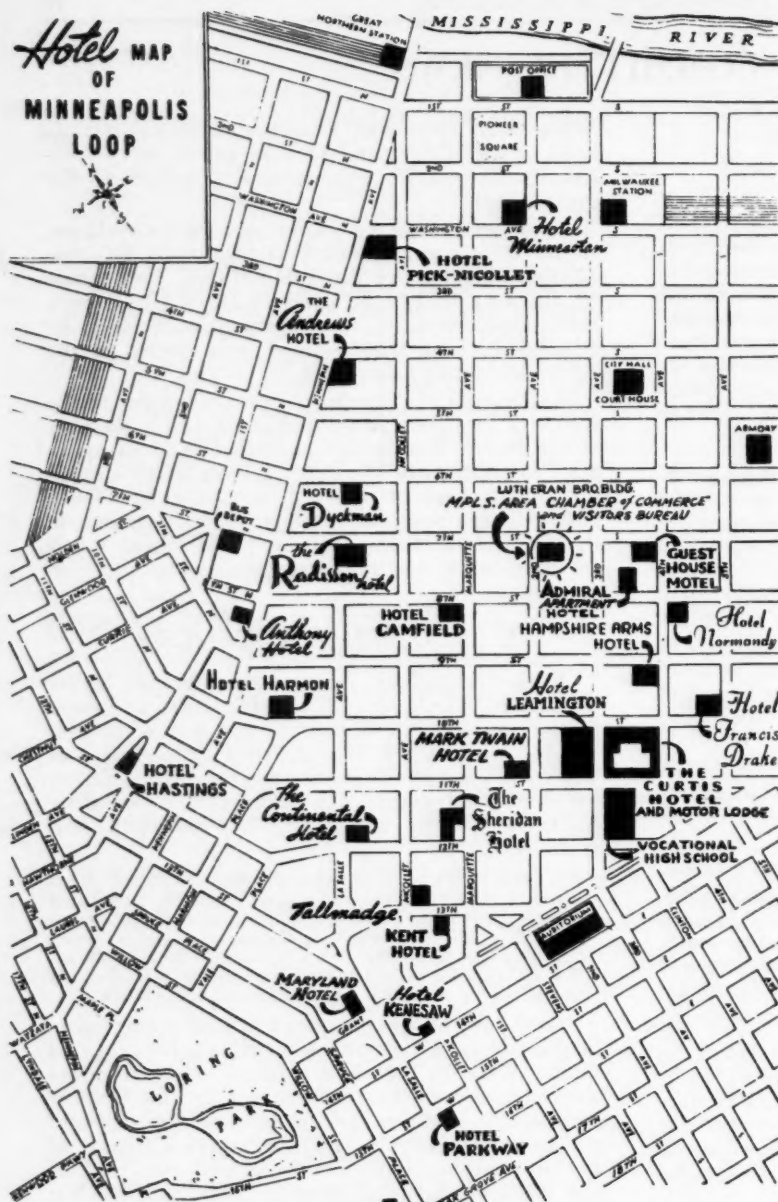

U. S. COMMITTEE OF ICSW

Charles Schottland, Dean of the Florence Heller Graduate School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare at Brandeis University, and immediate past President of NCSW, has accepted appointment as Chairman of the U. S. Committee of the International Conference of Social Work, succeeding Melvin A. Glasser, whose term expired at the end of January.

The other new officers are Vice-Chairman, Ralph H. Blanchard of New York, recently retired Executive Director of United Community Funds and Councils of America; Secretary, Mrs. Mildred Fairchild Woodbury of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania; Treasurer, Harry M. Carey, Executive Director of United Community Services of Boston, who recently completed his term as Treasurer-General of the ICSW.

The following persons have accepted membership on the new U. S. Committee, which is being set up as a part of the NCSW, in accordance with an agreement between the U. S. Committee and the Conference, which was described in the fall, 1960 issue of the Bulletin: Herschel Alt, Executive Director of the Jewish Board of Guardians, and chairman of the Welfare Advisory Committee on UNICEF, New York City, James Dumpson, Commissioner of Welfare of New York City, Mrs. Elisabeth Enochs, Chief of International Technical Missions of the Social Security Administration, Morris Fox, Chief of Plans of the Hawaii State Department of Social Services, Fred K. Hoehler, Chicago, Jane M. Hoey, New York City, Cora Kasius of Family Service Association of America, New York City, Kenneth Kindelsperger, Syracuse University — representing the Council on Social Work Education, John McDowell, Dean of the School of Social Work, Boston University — representing the National Association of Social Workers, Mrs. Susan T. Pettiss, Associate Director of International Social Service — American Branch, New York City, George W. Rabinoff — representing the National Social Welfare Assembly, Mrs. Savilla M. Simons, General Director of National Travelers Aid Association, New York City.

RULING ON DELEGATES EXPENSES by Internal Revenue Service

(Reprint from World Convention Dates)

If a member of a trade association or professional society attends a convention for a business reason, i.e., with the expectation of advancing the interest of his business, he is allowed to deduct his expenses when computing his federal income tax. However, if he attends on behalf of a local or state chapter or other organization, as a delegate of such group or organization, whatever cost he assumes is not deductible. A public ruling to that effect (Rev. Rul. 59-316) was published by the Internal Revenue Service on September 28. The holding was summarized as follows in the Internal Revenue Bulletin on that date:

"A taxpayer who attends a convention or meeting as an appointed or elected delegate does not, merely because of that status, become entitled to deduct as business expenses the expenses incurred in connection with his attendance at such convention. In order to be deductible by him, the expenses must be incurred in carrying the taxpayer's own trade or business activities as distinguished from those of another taxpayer or entity."

To illustrate the points involved, the IRS cited the case of a lawyer who was allowed deductions for expenses paid in attending a meeting of the American Bar Association but was denied deductions for expenses paid by him as a member of a "Special committee in making a trip to Europe to make a study of, and submit a report on, criminal procedure and law enforcement, since the purpose of the trip to Europe was not to educate himself but secure information for the Bar Association."

As the ruling then points out, "An individual may plan to attend a convention or other meeting in his individual capacity with the expectation of advancing the interests of his business and, because of the anticipated attendance, may be appointed a delegate or be considered as nominee for possible election as a delegate.

"An individual who can bring his case within the provisions of section 162 (a) of the Code by making a factual showing that he attended a convention in connection with his own business interests and is, therefore, entitled to a business expense deduction is not deprived of the deduction in the event he should be elected or appointed a delegate and, thus, as an incident of such attendance, serves the organization electing or selecting him. However, no deduction will be allowed for expenses to the extent they are assumed and paid by a non-employer organization which he represents. The allowance of deductions for convention expenses as business expenses will depend upon whether the relationship between the taxpayer's trade or business and his attendance at the convention is such that by his attendance he is benefiting or advancing the interests of his trade or business. One method of determining whether such a relationship exists is to compare the individual's duties and responsibilities of his own position with the purpose of the meeting as shown by the program or agenda."

NEW ASSOCIATE GROUPS

We are pleased to announce that the following organizations have become Associate Groups of the Conference:

National Committee for the Day Care of Children
National Council on the Aging

Both of them will be participating actively in the 1961 Annual Forum through meetings under their own sponsorship and through joint activities with other Associate Groups.

Nevada State Welfare Department has opening for District Director I, $464—$562 (Winnemucca and Hawthorne). Two years graduate training plus two years experience (or any equivalent combination of graduate training and experience). Appointment may be above minimum step depending upon qualifications.
